Hi, is it possible to import on AWS EC2 instances in the same instance, the AutoCAD template with cloud drive (Gdrive)? when I tried to do this error occurs: "You are not authorized to access ". Your G-Suite account needs to add access to this document." I have to do this only for one instance, but seems that the problem is that is not possible to add the template on g-suite to any other instances. I have to edit the template to install the programs other than the Microsoft office, and for this it is necessary to have the access for the cloud drive g-suite. I am using the windows image on the AWS EC2 instance. I have to configure a small office network for 2 computers, one in office and one in work. The quality images for the best possible renderings, especially those for important spaces in the building, are among the most difficult to produce, render, and edit, and so it's critical to manage a work space that is optimized for the rendering workflow. An industry-leading, fully integrated, real-time collaboration environment enables maximum efficiency and productivity while accelerating the pace of innovation. Is there anyone to help me? A: The Docs and Drive team is aware of this document and now working on an automated way to include it in Google drive. This may take several hours to complete, but the team is following up on it. In the meantime you can create an xl format document, open it in Word, and email the file to yourself at your gmail account. Then open the document in your google docs, make the Google Drive settings available, and save the document. Here is a link to the new version with the correct path to the google drive template file: Q: Why can't I install IIS7 Web Deploy 2? I'm trying to install the IIS Web Deploy 2 package on Windows 2008 Server 64-bit, but it isn't working as expected. I download the package from
